COMMUNITY OF INTERESTS WANTS CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN.

Possible Consolidation of the Pere Marquette, Toledo & Ohio Central and Hocking Valley.

Indications are that strong financial interests will secure control of the Chicago Great Western. It should be borne in mind, when reading such rumors, that three property was worth more than it had been proposed to sell it for, and pushed the price up about $1,000,000. If he now sells he will receive $3,000,000 more than had he sold two years ago. Great significance attaches to the trip that Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., and W. A. Reid, of a New York banking firm, made last week over this independent railtrip over the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, this is causing considerable specu-Western has long been a thorn in the flesh of the Minneapolis-Chicago lines. With Kansas City, Sioux City and Omaha, and strategically located with reference to all of its competitors, the road enjoys a unique position in the Northwestern railroad world. It runs through rich sections of country which originates much business and is by no means a long line between any of the points named. Its location and excellent facilities have enabled its management to steer clear of entangling alliances with Instruments filed for record in the recorder's other lines. In both passenger and freight office of Marion county, Indiana, for the twenty- matters the road usually maintained an attitude of independence, even while agreeing to keep the faith regarding certain traffics.

> $2,500.00 competitors. "The road has always been able to cause this reason that the community of ownership syndicates want to see it absorbed in some way and its individuality obliterated. Mr. Stickney denied that the road was for sale last summer when rumors were rife affecting the sale of the property.'

Certainly no community of interest scheme, designed to hold freight rates stable, will be effectual while Chicago Great Western remains a free lance in the field from Chicago to St. Paul and Kansas City. Its power as a disturber is too great trouble the larger systems, it would be a constant menace. That it will be absorbed there is little doubt, but when, how, and by whom, are still unknown.
